SALT LAKE

CITY AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

Governor Wells is in receipt of a letter from Hon. William R. Day of Cleveland, president of the McKinley Memorial association, asking him to send a memorial tablet to the site of the battle of Antietam, Md., on the 29th anniversary of the battle. Mr. Day suggests that the school children in every state be invited to give their names for the memorial fund.

It is not so easy as it used to be to "keep things secret," and that is the explanation of how the making of a Christmas gift has lately been made public when the authors of the same desired to let their left hand know what their right hand was up to. Mrs. J. J. Kelly of Hoboken, N. J., who is visiting in Salt Lake, did not forget the street car hands on the Third street line on which he lives when Xmas came, and he remembered each man to the extent of a fine big ham and four boxes of soap. E. L. Carpenter of the P. V. Coal company also remembered the boys on the same line with a handsome card and a silver dollar each, and neither said anything about it.

There is some lively sparring between representatives of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company and of the United States Steel company for control of the principal iron deposits in southwestern Utah. The San Pedro road, the Oregon Short Line and the Rio Grande will eventually reach these rich fields, and the big corporations are anxious to gain control in order to put up big works there as soon as the short railroad outlet to the coast is completed. O. M. Ladd has been most of the work for the Colorado corporation, and he has picked up a number of properties, but the most important deposits are under control of a crowd which is dealing with the steel trust.

Rev. C. J. Kelly of Hoboken and J. P. Wheeler of Raymont, N. J., are guests at the Knitsford, en route on a pleasure trip to the Pacific coast. Father Kelly says that the famous old Christian Field of Hoboken, where for so many years were maintained the finest baseball grounds in the country, are now a thing of the past and that five-story flats cover the places where the shouts of thousands of spectators used to signal good plays.

It is pretty definitely settled that no eight or nine or ten story building will be erected on the Walker House site. Instead, either a two or three-story structure will go up. Mr. Kelly has been persuaded that there is more money, proportionate to the size, in such a structure, than there would be in a larger building. The Luce House will occupy the site.

Congressman Sutherland has introduced a bill, asking for an appropriation of $2500 for a fish culture station in Utah, the location to be selected by the United States fish commission.

Ross Clark of Butte, vice president of the San Pedro road, in a conversation at the Alta club, said tracklaying has commenced on the road from Los Angeles and will be kept up now uninterrupted. Grading has also been commenced on the section between Pomona and Ontario, so when the steel gang reaches Pomona another section will be graded east of there. As to be the work in Utah, Mr. Clark said he hoped it could soon be started, but surveys are now engaging all the time of the local officials.

While no local official could verify the big piece of news from Washington about the San Pedro-Short Line negotiations, yet all railroad officials were of the opinion that the news was the sensible one, for these reasons:

The San Pedro road is going to build. It is backed by enough money to give it a disquieting voice.

The Oregon Short Line's track south of Salt Lake is not a paying district. In the event of its being used for main line it would have to be rebuilt.

If the Short Line sells it will get a good price for a piece of inferior track. The San Pedro, on the other hand, gets a right of way and grade with no or great value to it as part of its main line.

The extensive work of building two parallel lines would be done away with. The Short Line would not cut into its own (Southern Pacific) revenues.

These and many other less important arguments were heard in favor of the plan. Everyone is now assured that the Los Angeles road is to be built, and it is to be the advantage of both roads to reach a satisfactory agreement. The result is awaited with interest by the public.

GALA DAY FOR THE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

The Knights of Columbus of Salt Lake have done themselves proud in showing their knightly visitors from abroad that they are genuine heralds of the great knight who first planted the cross in this western world and from whom their name is derived.

It was announced last week that a crack team from the east would arrive in this city to put our local knights through the higher degrees. Therefore Wednesday was a gala day for the knights of this city. The team from the east, accompanied by other knights mostly from Colorado, were met at the Rio Grande depot and taken to the Knickerbocker. These visitors were: John H. Padden, Dan Carey, Joseph Newman, Frank M. Newman, Stanley McGinnis, T. M. Morrow, George O. Dostal, Ed. Moran, Delahanty, P. P. Caulfield and wife, J. Young, Frank Powers, M. C. Dolan and wife and daughter, W. T. Davoren, P. H. Muller and wife, all of Denver; R. F. Hayden of Topeka, P. E. Hahn of Chicago, J. D. Rodgers of Leadville.

After resting at the hotel the visiting knights were escorted to the residence of Bishop Scanlan and about the city by a committee consisting of E. V. Duncan, Edward O'Meara and Geo. J. Gibson. In the afternoon the candidates presented themselves at the hall in the Auerbach block and received two of the initiatory degrees. The third was administered in the evening, and was succeeded by a banquet. This was rather an informal affair and the guests and responses were delivered with that spontaneity characteristic of extemporaneous orations. The proceedings were calculated to impress the strangers to the feeling of the genuine fraternity of knights in this city which formality might handicap.

Following were the new members initiated: Joseph E. Sanz, R. A. Edwards, M. J. Shields, J. A. Gallagher, Richard Luxen, Patrick E. Sullivan, Dr. Patrick Kough, Joseph Geoghegan, Francis A. Dunbar, Henry J. McGinnis, J. Marnane, Robert A. Canning, Philip Riley, Frank O. Miller, P. O. Maroon, Edward G. O'Donnell, Clarence A. Locke, William J. Smith, J. J. McNeely, James H. Kelly, William A. Goldblatt, George Curley, John C. Lynch, James G. Fulton, Joseph Dedrich, James J. Butler, E. H. O'Brien.

From Salt Lake the visitors proceeded to San Francisco to organize a new lodge and thence to Los Angeles. The officers of the Salt Lake council are: Grand knight, Dr. M. A. Hughes; deputy grand knight, M. E. Callahan; chancellor, James G. Doolittle; financial secretary, E. F. Stoenberger; recorder, John J. Harvey; treasurer, E. E. McGurran; secretary, E. V. Duncan; advocate, George J. Gibson; lecturer, W. P. O'Meara; inner guard, U. V. Duguet; outer guard, C. F. Fitzgerald; trustees, Edward McGurran, James O'Connor, E. F. Marnane.

Pious Youth's Funeral.
The funeral of Henry Kroll, the young son of Mrs. Frank Tackerson, took place from St. Mary's cathedral last Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Father Keenan officiated, and beautiful music was rendered by Miss Owen, Miss Rosalind and Miss McCarty of the cathedral choir. Six of the cadets from All Hallows' college acted as pall-bearers for their young schoolmate.

Henry was a bright, lovable lad, and his death is a crushing blow to the family. For several months past he has been suffering from a serious attack of rheumatism, and finally affected his heart, and on Sunday morning he passed away painlessly. The tender sympathy of many friends is extended to the bereaved ones. May they be comforted in the thought that their dear little lad is safe in the arms of the Blessed Savior, who said, "Suffer the little ones to come unto me; for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

OGDEN.
Sacred Heart Academy—Death and Funeral of Jessie Cosney.

The library of Sacred Heart academy has recently been enriched by a handsome set of Bulwer's Lytton's works in thirty volumes, the gift of the Alt. umnae. Classes were resumed on the 6th and before the week ended all were at work with the usual energy and earnestness. The music pupils are working very diligently in preparation for the examinations which will be held the last week of January.

The death of Jessie Cosney has cast a pall of gloom over the happy household of Mr. John Cosney, and has left a charming shadow on the child-life of many a little companion. Jessie was a devoted pupil of Sacred Heart academy, and her beautiful character endeared her alike to teachers and schoolmates. But if her life was beautiful in its piety and usefulness her death was still more so, and rarely does childhood exhibit such sublime faith and serene resignation. The funeral was held Thursday morning, the mass being sung by the junior choir, of which Jessie had been a member.

Rev. P. M. Cushman delivered a most beautiful sermon. Taking for his text "A Child Shall Lead Them." He showed how the child of Nazareth had led the world. He dwelt with tenderness on the impressive scene of Jessie's death, and showed the power of a holy child to lead souls to God. There were many choice floral tributes, one of them from the Children of Mary, of which society the dead child was an exemplary member.

Mrs. Patrick McCormick has returned from California.

Miss Nellie Henly is visiting in Denver.

Mrs. Boyle entertained Thursday evening of last week.

The Degree of Honor will give their annual ball on Jan. 28.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Shields entertained last week in honor of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

John E. Farley of Denver was in Ogden last week.

EUREKA.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Hay entertained at dinner last Friday night.

BIGOTRY'S DUPES.

Freeman's Journal: Some one has sent us from Washington the resolution "unanimously passed by Council No. 2 of the American Protective Association, Washington, D. C., Oct. 2, 1901. If ever a work is written on the subject of this resolution, it should be entitled "The Dupes of Bigotry." It is not so much a resolution as it is a statement of fact. It is a statement of fact that there are persons who believe the statements found in them. It is a statement of fact that there are persons who believe the statements found in them. It is a statement of fact that there are persons who believe the statements found in them.

Yet the men who framed these A. P. resolutions in the city of Washington, on the 2nd of October, believe that such persons do really exist. They tell their dupes that "the general of the Jesuits called the Black Pope" and that he "wrote the A. P. bigots." As proof positive that this order was promptly obeyed the A. P. dupes are reminded "how soon this murder followed the order to 'remove such a record' from the records of the Jesuits." Among the victims were Pope Sixtus V., 1585; Clement VIII., 1592; Clement XIV., 1774, who all died for opposing the order to remove such a record. As this, the Jesuits would not, of course, scruple to take a hand in the assassination of Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley. They were the instigators of the assassination of these three American presidents we have it on the veracious authority of the author or authors of the A. P. resolutions we are criticizing.

These same resolutions, condemn "the horrible doctrine promulgated by Henry VIII. that it is no murder to kill a Protestant," and they also demand that "none of the children of this republic should be permitted to receive instruction in any parochial schools of any ecclesiastical organization which breeds anarchists and assassins; and to this end we recommend the passage of laws in every state to the effect that no citizens who shall have attended such schools shall ever hereafter hold any office, either civil or military, in the United States." We have quoted from these A. P. resolutions for the purpose of showing how anti-Catholic bigotry in its most ignorant and brutal form can reduce men to intellectual slavery who make them ready to accept as Gospel truth the most transparent lies told about the Catholic church. There is no doubt that the deluded bigots who are still to be found in the thinned ranks of the A. P. place implicit faith in every word of the warped stuff found in the resolutions to which we have called attention.

HAWAIIAN ROYALTY.

Archbishop Riordan Officiates at Prince David-Campbell Marriage.

Prince David Kawanakoa of Hawaii, nephew of the late King Kalakaua, and Miss Abigail Campbell, daughter of Mrs. Samuel Parker, were united in marriage in the parlors of the Occidental hotel, San Francisco, his grace, Most Rev. Archbishop Riordan, officiating.

The best man was Ernest Parker, and the bride was given into the keeping of her husband by Joseph R. Ryland of San Jose, who is the bride's god-father.

The bride is a graduate of the College of Notre Dame and became a convert shortly before she left that institution last summer. She is a beautiful and cultured young lady, having enjoyed every advantage of travel and education. She is heir to many millions and were it not for annexation would be queen of Hawaii in a few years. Mrs. Kawanakoa is of partly Hawaiian lineage.

The wedding party left for Washington to remain three weeks, after which they will go to the islands and continue the wedding festivities, as is the Hawaiian custom.—Monitor.
